FIGHT RAISIN CASE THROUGH

The fighting talk of President Giffen, of the Associated Raisin company, is the right stuff. This is a fighting matter. A temporary hold-up, in the middle of the harvest season, may have to be submitted to—especially when the United States Department of Justice holds the gun while the packers pick over pockets. Simply as a business proposition, the blackmail is cheap at the price. And the distance of it falls on those who misused the Department of Justice to fight the private wars of private packers. Any suspicion that there may have been anything in the public rights alleged by the suit or in the public wrongs charged against the Association is removed by the fact that the Government's prosecutors made an attempt to protect those rights or prevent those wrongs. If the claims of the private packers were the only ones considered in the settlement, it is a fair presumption that they were the only ones really involved in the suit. To get them out of the way, in the immediate emergency, the growers have stood for a hold-up of $100,000, which is cheap. So far as the alleged public evils are concerned, if only exaggerated them, it completes the alleged "monopoly" by associating these packers in its operation, and it completes the alleged "coercion" of the growers by removing the only inducement to anybody to tempt them to sell outside. As to the "extortion" of consumers, it takes in the chief extortioners, under conditions which compel them to continue extorting. So nothing has happened, except further to clinch the public evils, if any such existed, for a bribe of $100,000, paid to five private packers under the public compulsion of the Department of Justice, represented in this instance, at its request, by the attorney for these packers.

One further thing, President Giffen makes emphatically clear. The attorney for the private packers (and amicus curiae for the Department of Justice) has sought to disseminate the impression that all contracts are off and that every one is free to sell to them exactly as if he had never contracted with the Association. Nothing could be further from the truth. If any grower will swear that he was "coerced" into the original signing of his contract, his word will be taken for it and he will be released from that contract. Seven growers have done so, and if there are seven or seventeen more they have the like privilege. But if a grower signed the original contract voluntarily at the time that contract is still binding on him now, even if he has since changed his mind. If the contract was valid in the beginning, nothing has happened to make it void now, and it must be lived up to.

All these things have reference only to the temporary situation. The permanent issue is whether this Association, or any association so organized, has the right to exist and do business. That question the Fresno company proposes to have settled in the courts, and to make it if necessary to the highest court. Even if that highest court were to decide (and its previous decisions indicate that it would not) that the present laws forbid such an organization, the fight would still go on, until Congress amended the laws so as to permit it. So it is a fight to the finish, with the certainty that the growers will win in the end, and the probability that they will win long before, without the need of carrying it to the end.

So far as the outside packers are concerned, they have no rights which a growers' company is bound to respect. A growers' company may sell some raisins to them to pack or it may pack all its raisins itself, as it thinks best. The only contention in this case is that the Association, in its capacity as a packer, is simply one packing company among others, and that it has no right to contract with growers to establish a packing and trading monopoly for itself, as against competing packers and traders. Substantially, everybody knows that the Association is not one packing company among others. It is the growers' agency to pack and sell their crops. If the fact that a few outsiders hold limited-dividend stock instead of bonds makes it technically a private corporation, that is easily cured. Certainly it is a private packing company, it is a different sort than any we have ever had before. It is the only packing company that ever considered the interest of the growers. It is the only one that ever merchandized raisins instead of speculating in them. It is the only one that ever devoted its energies to improving the conditions of its workers. Instead of merely squeezing them as cheap as possible. It is the only one that ever confined, and bound itself to confine, its profits to mere interest on the money invested. It is the only one that ever devoted itself to promoting the consumption of raisins and to protecting the consumers against the wastages, the extravagances and the extortions of middlemen. It is, in short, the only packing company which ever served the industry and the community instead of the profits of a few private owners. Certainly a company whose methods differ so spectacularly from the methods of all other packing companies is something different from them. And the difference is inherent in its very structure, and not merely in any idiosyncracies of its managers.

Consider the record of the packers in this community. When they dealt competitively direct with the growers, their whole effort was to beat down the price to the producer and to squeeze it up to the consumer. They bought and sold raisins incidentally, but chiefly they gambled in futures on them. They manipulated the market in pounds and confusion while they were buying, and then they cut each other's throats when they were selling, rarely with saving and often with loss to the consumer. They pocketed their gains, when they won, and passed on their losses, when they lost. Their expressed opinion of each other was worse than the worst opinion ever uttered on behalf of the growers. They would not even call each other, and when they occasionally combined to hold up the growers or the consumers, they charged each other with cheating each other out of the loot.

This was the raisin packing business in Fresno, in the days of "free competition". And when the growers sought to combine alone, and then to contract with the packers to dispose of the crop, the packers always used their own vineyards, and those which they controlled, either by contract or through other obligations, to prevent the success of the growers' combination until it had to deal with them or fail. Then they always used this advantage to extort a hold-up contract from the Association, after which they gambled to hold up the consumers. Even this was better than nothing, but it was always temporary. It had to be done over every year, always at the cost of a new hold-up, and no permanent organization of growers or permanent basis of packing or marketing was possible. A permanent advertising campaign was impossible and the protection of consumers would have been equally impossible even if anybody had attempted it.

With their long memory of these packing and marketing policies, it is no wonder that the growers and people of Fresno manifest small sympathy with the woes of the few outside packers still left. Some of the owners and managers of these companies are personally excellent and popular gentlemen. Some of them have found it expedient, since the Associated era, to use less cutthroat methods. The present hostility to them is not personal. To whatever extent the Association has found it desirable, in the past, to do business with and through them, nobody has objected. But Fresno knows that the system is incurably wrong, and that the Association system is fundamentally right. That is why Fresno stands and will continue to stand by the growers' company, in this and every other contest.

HAS HARDING SEWED UP

Whatever may be the case with Senator Harding, there is no ambiguity in Senator Johnson's position. He has not only the courage of his own convictions, but a determined purpose to hold Senator Harding to the courage of the same convictions. Far from denying the charge of Governor Cox that he has a pledge in writing from Harding on the League of Nations, he confirmed it. He explained at Los Angeles that while his speech was based on Harding's public utterances, "the demonstration might otherwise be made". And, further, "I would not be here tonight if I were not clear as to the situation presented in this campaign". In other words, if Johnson did not have Harding sewed up tight, he would not be campaigning for him.

While it does not follow that Johnson correctly reflects Harding's mind, it does follow that this is what he intends to hold Harding to. President Taft, Herbert Hoover and various newspaper correspondents may report Harding as having talked to them in exactly the opposite effect, but they are not friends of Harding, partisans of Republicanism nor patriotic Americans for saying so. Johnson has him down in writing, and he is going to hold him to it.

And this is what he holds him to: "The presidential campaign of 1920 presents the burning question of the League of Nations. Upon this hinges the determination of the people. If Cox is successful the League of Nations wins and we go into it. If Harding is elected the League is dead." "There has been no talking, no hesitation on Mr. Harding's part. He is against the League." "No friend of his, no partisan of Republicanism, no patriotic American, will distort his words or misrepresent his position."

Senator Johnson purposely chose Los Angeles as the place to say this because many leading pro-League Republicans, whom he thus stigmatizes as not friends of Harding, partisans of Republicanism, or patriotic Americans, are there supporting Harding on the ground that the League is not the whole issue, and that Harding is not irreconcilable even on that. Offended at a report that some of them had objected to his opening the campaign in Los Angeles, he preferred to tell them first, to their faces, as raspingly as possible, that he repudiated their support and would make sure that Harding did so. No pro-League Republican shall vote for Harding if Johnson can help it.

Now it is up to Harding. And he is dealing with a man who usually delivers. At the head of a small minority group, Johnson drove a Senate which wanted to ratify the treaty into defeating it. The only Republican presidential candidate who was against the League, in a convention nearly all of whose members were supporting pro-League candidates, he drove that convention into declaring against the League. Then, dealing with a candidate who had voted in the Senate for the League, he committed him in writing against it. Now it only remains to hold him to that commitment through the campaign and to that course afterward. It is for Harding, by tacitly accepting or by disclaiming that commitment to be delivered or not delivered. And considering Johnson's record as a deliverer, and Harding's as a deliverer, the odds are all in favor of the delivery.

And that delivery, if Harding permits Johnson to make it, will constitute the League of Nations as the determining issue of the campaign, and will be an invitation, by the Republican candidate, to every pro-League Republican to vote the Democratic ticket. Doubtless, many of them will not accept that invitation, but they will be given it.

Fresno's Yesterdays

Forty Years Ago Today

Mr. H. H. Doyle, who arrived here a short time since from Kansas, stayed for San Luis Obispo on Wednesday last, to take charge as editor and proprietor of the Advocate, published at that place. During his short stay here he made a host of friends who join in wishing him success in his new enterprise.

Five gold items—Wm. Gibson has bonded his mine for $25,000 to two gentlemen by the name of Abney. He is to receive one hundred dollars per month for nine months and all rock taken out during that time in excess of five tons. The Mountain View boys are working on a fine vein of gold, quartz 15 feet from the surface. The Hamilton mine is yielding sufficient gold to keep the miners comfortably employed.

At Lodi, Cal., formerly superintendent of the mint at San Francisco, will shortly commence the erection of a ten-story mill near the old Nat. Herbert mine. Parties in search of investments are arriving almost daily, and there is an excellent feeling in regard to the value and permanency of the mines in that section.

AMERICAN RAW MATERIAL AND THE AMERICAN UPPER CRUST

The two photographs reproduced above, illustrate, from two very different angles, problems that the American people face in their public schools and in the "Americanization" work. The picture above shows one of the many families waiting at the gateway to America, Ellis Island, for admittance into the United States. Within a brief period of seven days, 37,000 foreigners will have set foot at Ellis Island, eager to start life in America. Every liner arriving at the Port of New York swells the immigrant grant list. Thousands are due to arrive in the next few days. The tide of immigration has reached the high mark of the days before the war. The picture below shows an altogether different scene, one where the democratic influences of the American school system has been reduced to a minimum. So that it would not be necessary for the children to leave the hotel at any time, a school has been established at the top of the Fairmont Hotel, one of the most exclusive in San Francisco. There is a kindergarten and primary classes. Dancing is also taught the children. The children are shown studying in their novel classroom.

RATS FOR ADMISSION

The films are putting the rats out of business here. Verrier Hicks, proprietor of one of the largest picture houses, called in the campaign to exterminate rats by offering to accept a rat as an admission fee.

All the youngsters in town and a few grown-ups have been paying their way in with rats.

—Boston Globe.

Afar in the depths of the ocean
Where the star dust lies shiny and gray,
Wander frivolous mites, seeking futile delights
As they frolic their life-times away.
But when they are called to their fathers
And die on the oze-covered stones,
Fair islands arise toward the tropical skies,
On the heaps of their coralline bones.
And though we may frown on their disolate ways
As they frolic, far under the waves,
The tempest tossed mariners gratefully gaze
Toward the palms that appear on their graves.

At night, in the gloom of the pantry
The rodent, with pattering feet,
Comes to dine at his ease on potatoes and cheese.
That were destined for others to eat.
But, pang! there's a snap and a crunching,
The soul of the rat takes its flight
And his carcass will stake little Patrick or Jake
To a movie-show ticket that night.
And though many hard things may be truthfully said
Of this scoundrelously four-legged weevil,
One must own that the good that he does when he's dead
Will atone for a life time of evil.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Sept. 26.—An echo of the days when city surveys were made with an ordinary tape line has been found in a recent report by the city engineer's office here. The report declares an old frame building, one of the city's early landmarks, is from street to street, including about the property, measuring about 100 feet longer than it is, and that the error was due to the fact that the survey was made with a tape line.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—All the departments were instructed to take possible action to remedy the error.

UTAH HAS SYSTEM OF ALL-YEAR SCHOOLS

Editor Republicans: In view of the very timely discussion concerning a year-round school, it might not be inopportune to state that the last session of the legislative assembly of the state of Utah provided for this very thing. The year-round school, therefore, is no longer in the realm of theory, but is in actual operation in one of the most educationally progressive states of the Union.

The following quotation is taken from an article by Mr. G. N. Child, state superintendent of the Utah schools, and will be illuminating to your readers: "At the last session of the state legislature Utah provided a year-round school of education designated as 'education in health and in civic and patriotic service continuing over the entire year in the school districts of the state of Utah.' Boards of education are authorized by this act to raise and expend money for this type of education in the same manner as that in which school purposes. The legislature also appropriated a modest sum of money to be distributed to schools which conform to standards prescribed by the state board."

"Beginning with the school year 1919-1920, all boys and girls in the school districts of Utah up to 16 years of age are required to register with the principals of their respective schools. All must attend school who have not completed a high school course unless excused by the superintendent to enter employment. A working permit which must be issued to those so excused is filed with the employer, and those so excused must attend continuation school at least four hours per week while employed. As soon as the employment ends, the pupil must return to school."

"And this supervision does not end with the closing of school, but is active in July as in January. Superintendents generally throughout the state have inaugurated the following procedure:

O. S. HUBBARD,
Dist. Supt. of Schools,
Lindsay, California.

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 26.—The $2,000 fund presented to the University of California by the 1920 graduates class will be used to erect a memorial bench in honor of students of the institution who lost their lives in the great war, university authorities have decided.

PLAN BAY FERRY AT RICHMOND

$800,000 Stock to Be Raised; Commission Makes Stipulations

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(Pioneer.)—A plan to have $800,000 worth of stock to establish a ferry service between San Francisco and Richmond was granted the San Francisco-Richmond Ferry company by the railroad commission today but with the stipulation that the stock should be sold only for cash, to be deposited in a bank and expended under the direction of the commission.

Positive stock buyers must be compelled to read the commission's opinion accompanying the order, the railroad commission instructed and M. J. Thompson, president of the company, is forbidden to act as the company's fiscal agent or receive 15 percent of the proceeds from stock sales for organization services.

The commission said that it was "unable to consent" that M. J. Thompson, president of the company, should be permitted to absorb $13,000 of the stock issue to cover organization and other preliminary costs and the company's fiscal agent.

The prospectus of the company was attacked as "erroneous and misleading," by the commission and its decision was ordered. The prospectus was ordered to be corrected and the company was ordered to pay $10,000 for terminal facilities at Richmond.

The companies planning in the petition that it be permitted to expend $90,000 for terminal facilities at Richmond was denied by the commission. "It may be considered in a supplemental order if applicant can finance the enterprise, the order said."

WIRE COMPANIES TO RETAIN FEE
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and all other telephone companies operating in California were authorized by the railroad commission today to retain the $3.50 installation fee on all telephone calls placed after August 1, 1920, and to make a fixed charge of $1.50 for putting in extensions and for each station on a private branch exchange.

Installation fees collected between August 1, 1919, and the government turned the fees back to private control and August 1, 1920, must be returned to subscribers, the commission ordered.

Before the war the installation fee always was returned at the end of a year's service, but the government permitted the companies to keep the $3.50. The extension charge order substitutes a flat rate for charges based on the cost in individual instances.

TOKYO, Sept. 26.—In connection with the high price of sugar in the United States, it is remarked here that approximately 100,000 tons of sugar held in warehouses in Tokyo, Yokohama and elsewhere have been exported to the United States since the financial depression began in Japan. The shipments consisted of 15,000 tons of white crystallized sugar, 20,000 tons of brown centrifugals and 65,000 tons of cane sugar.

TOKYO, Sept. 26.—The yearly production of paper mills throughout Japan is roughly given as 100,000 tons, of which 80,000 tons are used for newspaper printing, 15,000 tons by the government, 20,000 tons for the printing of school text-books, and 15,000 tons for the printing of magazines. The quantity required in the printing of newspapers and magazines takes 82 per cent of the total production. The demand for foreign paper in Japan is yearly increasing.

SEATTLE, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Madge Anna Sawyer, 21 years old, convicted of second degree murder of her husband, Howard Sawyer, was granted a new trial today, the date to be set. The motion was based upon new evidence said to have been discovered. At her first trial Mrs. Sawyer pleaded temporary insanity and self-defense.

SOLVING HIGH COST, HAIR CUTS

Little Mary Quite Contrary has, it seems, according to the picture, solved the problem of how to save money on her hair cuts by doing the job herself. She is busily engaged in trimming the locks of her doll. But that is only one of the reasons the little miss is doing the job herself. A corner in Mary's cellar is heaped high with baldheaded dolls. She has decided that the barber trade is a coming business for women and practices on her dollies as fast as mama can buy them.

Excursion Steamers to Save Fruit Crop

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—To save $500,000 worth of fruit and vegetables that lies rotting on the ground in Berrien county, Michigan, city officials organized a fleet of summer excursion steamers to move the crop to Chicago. Seven boats will bring the fruit to Chicago.

The boats will be given free docking space at the municipal pier.

JAPANESE ALARMED OVER NEW RELIGION

TOKYO.—Authorities are generally alarmed over the spread of a new religion "Onotoyoko" meaning real fundamental relations between the human mind and the universe. According to press reports authorities have said that the spread of the new cult is dangerous to interests of the state and the maintenance of general peace and order.

According to the press reports, Onotoyoko is described as a new religion of Shintoism, Christianity, Megalomania and Mesmerism, founded by an illiterate woman named Deguchi, born in 1836, who after a life of privation and suffering proclaimed herself "Shinto" and died in 1913, leaving ten thousand Japanese converts, composed in a state of ecstasy. Each volume contained two thousand words.

Apostles are carrying the religion, and according to press reports it is spreading like "flames of fire," especially among the educated classes, including many college students. Proponents of the cult declare that Japan will control the whole world after a great war.

The Osaka newspaper, Taisei Nichiichi, which recently suspended publication, has been purchased for spread of the doctrines of the cult.

NEGROES MEET IN LOS ANGELES

First Convention Opened By Industrial Parade

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—A parade in which floats carried cotton and other staples raised by negroes, was the opening event today of the first national convention of the Industrial and Commercial Council of People of African Descent, which will be in session here until next Wednesday.

The proclamation calling the convention, signed by J. W. Coleman of Los Angeles, president of the council, read in part as follows: "Whereas, the negro has had the opportunity, but failed in the contribution of his share to production in the fields of commerce and industry, and as production comes through the fields of labor, we are endeavoring to stimulate an enthusiasm in the negro to become a greater producer, thereby giving the markets more volume, which naturally reduces the cost of living."

The afternoon session, following the parade, was devoted to organization. Church meetings were scheduled to be held tomorrow. The program for Monday includes an address by Booker T. Washington, Jr., son of the late president of Tuskegee Institute.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 26.—The British steamer Albert Hopewell, Jacksonville to Havana with a cargo of lumber, is said to have sunk off Cape Canaveral last night. No details have been received.

HEYDLER ISSUES NEW EVIDENCE IN BASEBALL SCANDAL

States Managers Knew World Series Games Were Fixed After First Game

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—President John Heydler of the National league tonight made public evidence he gathered in a private investigation of alleged baseball gambling and game "throwing" and at the same time declared that President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans and Manager Gleason were convinced after the first world series game last year that the series had been "fixed".

The matter was brought to the attention of President B. B. Johnson of the American league, but Johnson did not seem very enthusiastic over starting an investigation, Heydler said.

Heydler brought the name of John D. Dugan, former Detroit pitcher, first into the case. He had no record of Dugan's alleged involvement in the Hal Chase and Les McGinnis cases.

Heydler said all of his evidence had been placed at the disposal of President Johnson, but that he did not know whether the latter was making any use of it.

Mr. Heydler, quoted by J. C. (Hale) Boulton, New York National pitcher, as saying that Dugan was the man who "fixed" the game between Hal Chase and Les McGinnis, claiming that the world series had been fixed, and that Dugan had received his information from this telegram.

Heydler told Boulton he had seen Hal Chase make one bet of $100 on the series, Heydler said.

Discussing the McGinnis case, Mr. Heydler said that William Vogel, president of the Chicago National league club, had obtained McGinnis's confession that he had attempted to throw a game and that McGinnis had shown that he had been in the city at the time of the game.

Heydler refused to say for what amount.

He also said that McGinnis had been accused of throwing games, but that Heydler, but he would neither confirm nor deny reports that McGinnis had been released by the New York National for this reason. Reports that McGinnis was suspended a year ago for trying to throw a game and for leading training, as was announced, were not denied by Mr. Heydler.

Quoting Tip O'Neill, former Western league pitcher, as saying that after the world series game last fall, he said Mr. Heydler, "and told me that Comiskey and Gleason felt that something was wrong, but that they did not want to go to New York and see Comiskey. I considered him rather preposterous at first, but after Gleason and I had analyzed the game, I went to Johnson and told him what I should realize."

Gleason told me in confidence, he said, that he had something was wrong, and that some one had "reached the White Sox players."

Concerning the McGinnis case, Heydler said that he had been told by a Chicago club official that McGinnis had been "fixed" by Philadelphia to win, Mr. Heydler said his investigation convinced him that a Philadelphia player had been "made by some one to injure the Chicago club."

President Nuyin sent a letter to Johnson, saying that $50,000 was bet and $10,000 of this was in Detroit, he said. "This letter was turned over to me, but I have been able to learn of only $5,000 bet in Cleveland and $10,000 in Cincinnati. I have not yet finished investigation of this case."

Compliments New York National league club had done more for baseball than any club in either league.

Mr. Heydler deliberately reached his point by setting up of Chase and McGinnis because of their alleged gambling and game "throwing," he said. Discussing the testimony given by Dugan before the Chicago county jury, Heydler said Dugan had been quoted as saying that Horace of

MARQUARD HURLS MASTERLY CONTEST

ONE MORE GAME NEEDED TO WIN NATIONAL FLAG

BROOKLYN, Sept. 26.—As a result of defeating New York 4 to 2 today, Brooklyn needs only one more victory to win the National League pennant.

The Superbas can lose all their remaining games and the pennant will go to the two clubs still remaining in the series at the Polo grounds Thursday and also will play today and Saturday.

Brooklyn's victory today was due to the masterly pitching of Marquard and timely hitting by his teammates. They started for New York, but were bogged for four hits and one run in the first two innings. Douglas, who succeeded him, kept Brooklyn off the paths until the seventh, when he was finally responsible for two runs.

Sewell pitched the last inning for the Giants, and Brooklyn added another run. Neale, batting for Griffith, hit for two bases, and after Wheat went out scored on a single by Neale.

George Burdette, who came from New York, getting in first in each instance on an error. Score: Brooklyn, 4; New York, 2.

Visalia, Sept. 26.—Dinuba won the final game of the season from Lemoore today in a ten-inning battle by the score of 8 to 7. The home team was led by home runs by Blum and Ashby.

The Chicago club, which had been "fixed" by Philadelphia to win, Mr. Heydler said his investigation convinced him that a Philadelphia player had been "made by some one to injure the Chicago club."

President Nuyin sent a letter to Johnson, saying that $50,000 was bet and $10,000 of this was in Detroit, he said. "This letter was turned over to me, but I have been able to learn of only $5,000 bet in Cleveland and $10,000 in Cincinnati. I have not yet finished investigation of this case."

Compliments New York National league club had done more for baseball than any club in either league.

Mr. Heydler deliberately reached his point by setting up of Chase and McGinnis because of their alleged gambling and game "throwing," he said. Discussing the testimony given by Dugan before the Chicago county jury, Heydler said Dugan had been quoted as saying that Horace of CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—By landing hits on Tyler in the fifth and on Martin in the sixth, St. Louis scored an easy victory over Chicago today, 6 to 3.

The Cardinals used three pitchers, but their win was coupled with opportune hitting, gave the local team a convincing lead, and with Claude phibing from Detroit and little changing.

Clinton held the visitors to seven scattered hits, but his own error enabled Detroit to save itself from a shutout in the first inning. Young singled and two second base sacrifices bled Detroit to Chicago, who threw wild to first and Young scored. After this Clinton had things his own way.

The Sox went to the front in their eighth inning, but in the ninth, Strum doubled to right and advanced to third on Weaver's long fly. McCallie and Jackson walked, filling the bases, and Strum scored. After this, the Sox were held by the Cardinals, who threw wild to first and Young scored. After this Clinton had things his own way.

By using Schnell's Auto-Tire Lubricant you stop inner tubes from sticking to the inside of the tire. It also stops all friction which causes heat expansion. By stopping friction we have stopped deteriorating of fabric as well as the deterioration of the tube. It keeps the tube in its normal shape and air will not expand any higher than to what you have inflated the tire to. Truck owners with pneumatic tires such as 44x10 will find relief in using Schnell's Auto-Tire Lubricant as changes do not have to be made unless by puncture or worn-out tires. In this way the truck owner is getting rid of expense by not having his truck and driver idle. The same tube can be used in new tires continuously.

Look for our booth in the Automotive building at the Fair and we will explain Schnell's Auto-Tire Lubricant in detail.

FAIR OPENS AT NOON TODAY

Hill Turns Fast Mile in 40 Seconds

BIGGEST EVENT IN HISTORY OF FAIRS ON TODAY

Twelve O'clock to See
All Exhibits in Place
Children Have Part in Program on First
Fair Day

Under a canopy of flags and festive colors beneath the smiling, San Joaquin Valley sun, the fourteenth annual Fresno District Fair became a reality today at noon when the gates officially open.

That the fair will have an auspicious opening was evident yesterday from the preparations which were in progress at the grounds and from the fact that everything in place for the first day's events. From exhibit tent to the main show building, the classic race track to the "hot dog" stand, the stage where the radio brings back the taste of the West that was everything points to a week of unalloyed pleasure, rare shows and a collection of the best of the state and brought by the hands of man, and the greatest fair which has been held in the "Garden of the Sun."

The last minute rush was on with a vengeance yesterday as men and women hurried themselves with the thousands of final preparations in order that the promise of the manager may be fulfilled and the fair open on schedule time. From comparative quiet, the fair grounds became a little city yesterday to continue so for a week and then to leave for another year, but leaving the memory of a great event.

Today the people of the valley and visitors from far and near have a chance to view the work of weeks and months of preparation and to judge their judgment will be favorable. It is the belief of the fair officials who have worked with untiring vigor on the countless details which make the fair a community labor of love.

And at the fair grounds today, the children are given first consideration. It is children's day and today they and thousands of children from the city and county will be admitted free to the grounds while their big daddy motorists play the joyful host in assisting the management of the fair. Many have been made to the fair free transportation in the children, to admit them free to the grounds and to give them the best entertainment which the fair provides.

And from this is to be here to take part in the "Days of the Old West," which has its premiere today and continues for five days, as the piece de resistance of the afternoon entertainment program. The boys "Tommy" and "Bobby" are to be here to take part in the "Days of the Old West," which has its premiere today and continues for five days, as the piece de resistance of the afternoon entertainment program. The boys "Tommy" and "Bobby" are to be here to take part in the "Days of the Old West," which has its premiere today and continues for five days, as the piece de resistance of the afternoon entertainment program.

Exhibitors Rush Work.

Exhibitors were busy yesterday in every building and tent on the grounds arriving at the fair grounds yesterday morning before the fair was thrown open to public inspection. A. A. Trempe, manager of exhibits and concessions, believes that he has assembled the best exhibits of the fair, which have been shown in Fresno fair, while exhibitors have spared no pains to give artistic and comprehensive displays in their spaces.

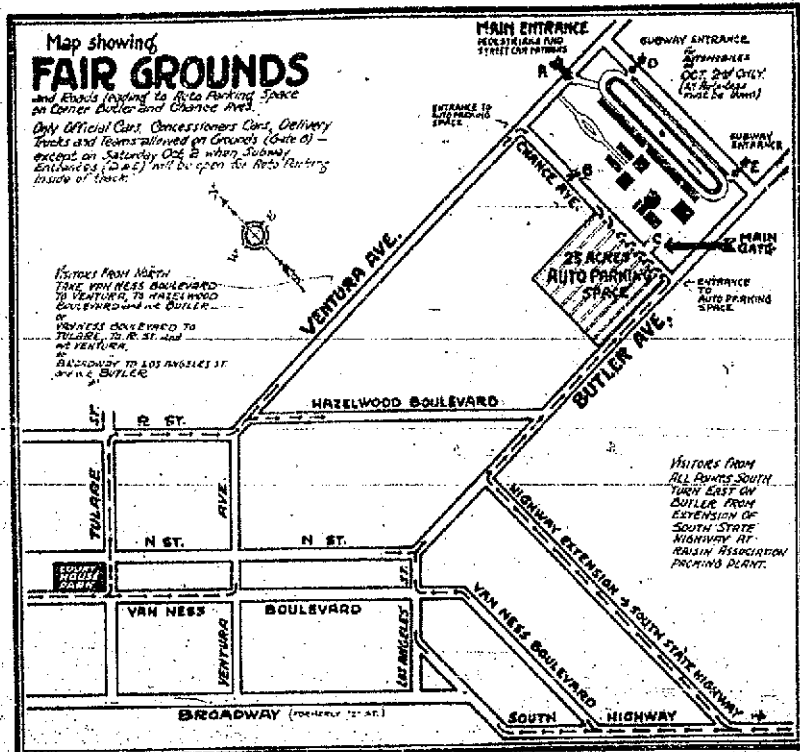

Every exhibit space in the grounds has been taken up and great care has been taken to get two to three hundred tents to house the tractor and implement show and the industrial and food products show. These tents have been erected in the rear of the agricultural and automobile buildings at the grounds and provide great additional space under cover to be used in placing the displays. Trempe believes that the tractor and implement show which he has collected is the best which has ever been assembled in the west and in this machinery with which to assist the kindling of the fire in the many-varied displays.

Then there is the agricultural and horticultural building under the direction of J. A. Remondino, president of the state. Lack of displays by San Joaquin Valley communities has made it necessary to amplify the displays of others and the result will be a rare collection of the valley products will be on display. In this building will be housed the exhibits of the co-operative concerns, the California Associated Tractor Company, the California Potato Growers, Inc., and the California Fruit and Apricot Growers, while the interests new consolidated with the Peach Growers also have an exhibit. The United States Exhibit Department exhibit also housed in this building while the department of agriculture, the Fresno County Farm Bureau and the Home Garden Farm are also showing in this building. Remondino and his staff have prepared the sole representatives among the communities.

"The Path of Pleasure" was a busy scene yesterday with countless fun-makers being installed for the people of the valley to test during fair week. At the end of the Path of Pleasure is the open air dance floor which promises to be the most popular place in the evening when moments are dull, if there are any, in the amusement program.

The livestock show under the direction of Fred Gutwood, is going to be better and bigger than ever before, all signs indicate. For days stock has been arriving at the grounds until there is more than customary for showing at a Fresno District Fair while the addition of a sales auction for Friday and Saturday of this week and gives the farmers of the valley a chance to improve their livestock strains.

Special provisions have been made for caring for the public interest in the fair this year. A corps of

DRIVER STATES TRACK FASTEST HE HAS TRIED

Only Goes Halfway Up
Oval to Make 90 Miles

Ralph De Palma One of Favorites Here for Classic

Lapping the newly completed speedway for the first time, a mile long, Ralph De Palma, driver of a Buick, yesterday in 40 seconds, at the rate of 90 miles an hour. While the speed was not nearly as great as that which will be set up when the speedway classic is contested on October 2, the lap was the second which De Palma drove yesterday and in making the mile in 40 seconds he did not go half way up the oval, driving the first lap on the track.

De Palma, 31, will bring the credit of driving the first racing car on the $250,000 speedway. This is a contest in the classic on October 2 and took second place to Eddie Hearne in the Hudson Day Classic here April 20.

De Palma, dean of racing drivers and generally conceded to be one of the favorites for the race, arrived in Fresno yesterday, his car having preceded him by some days. He is a contestant in the classic race at the fair grounds, also arrived in Fresno yesterday. Tommy Milton, Gaston Chevrolet and Eddie Hearne are expected in Fresno today and Jim Crosby, who drove the Stockton Patterson entry in the race, is expected to come in tomorrow. Magnavox Sends Voice Booming to Limit of Grounds

Sounding for the first time yesterday, the magnavox sent the sweetest of tones, Charles' voice, to the farthest limits of the grandstand and bleachers at the fair grounds. The magnavox is the instrument which has been used in conventions in the past and has been brought to Fresno for use at the fair when Lumberjack Charlie and a trio of singers will sing into its mechanism, the sound being amplified and carried so that the whole assemblage can hear distinctly.

The arrangement has been set up in the judges stand inside the oval of the track and three reproducing and amplifying horns send the waves of tone increased volume so that they can be heard distinctly.

Lumberjack Charlie (Charles Wilkinson) will be one of the singers who will entertain daily at the fair.

Another for the race.

Expect 100 M. P. H.

The average for the 200 miles of the classic race is expected to press closely the 100-mile-an-hour mark, while predictions are that the fastest lap will be in the neighborhood of 100 miles.

Practice on the track will begin Tuesday morning when cars will be allowed on the track between 8 and 9 o'clock. The public will be excluded from the speedway at this time.

Preparations went on rapidly at the speedway yesterday. The track is almost clear of the construction debris and the white pole line was painted yesterday.
